The bride wore a rich gown of white satin embroidered with point lace, and a veil of tulle. Prof. and Mrs. Lee will sail for Europe in a few days. The meeting of the Windham and Bennington counties Universalists on Monday and Tuesday was largely attended and apparently much enjoyed oy all present. The exercises were all exceptionally good. The addresses by all the clergymen were free from critical allusion or insinuations adverse to other denominations and all were essentially Christian, instructive and interesting. Prof. Cramer at the organ added much to the musical feat-ure of the association, as did the singing of Mrs. Ora E. Johnson and Mr.

Mrs. Gratia Newton, wife of William E. Newton, died at midnight last Sunday after a long and distressing of consumption for several years, which she has borne with the greatest patience and fortitude. For more than a year she has been unable to speak aloud. Mrs. Newton was the eldest daughter of the late Wilder H. and Elizabeth Dudley Fairman, and was 49 years old. She was married to William E. Newton in 1869 and leaves two children, Mrs. William W. Brooks and Burt H., to mourn the loss of a kind mother. Mrs. Newton was a woman of excellent intellectual endowment and so far as lay in her power willingly discharged her duties as a good neighbor. She was a mem-ber of the Woman's Relief corps of Northfield, who showed their esteem for her by contributing a wreath of peautiful flowers and personally attending her funeral on Tuesday afternoon. A pillow of cut flowers for "Mother," and large quantities of other flowers attested to the love and sympathy of dear friends. Rev. R. K. HINSDALE, N. H.

The graduating exercises of the the plate. McCormick's pitching was Hinsdale High school, class of 1901, egan at the Congregational church began at the Congregational church Sunday afternoon at 4 o'clock, when Rev. W. F. White, pastor of the church, delivered the baccalaureate sermon. Mr. White's subject was "Pitching Life's Tent," and was taken from Genesis xiii:12. Mr. White detailed the history of Lot in connection. with Abraham, and showed that ever after the division of the lands, Lot pitched his tent toward Sodom. It is f the utmost importance how one pitches his tent. The class had up to the present time been held by public opinion, and by recognized authority. They are emerging somewhat from the | Totals. ontrol of parents and teachers, and KEESE. nore and more must choose for themelves. It is a critical time in their ives and he pressed home the question 'After Graduation, What?" They ould in the next four months form associations which would make or ruin them. They cannot spend time in questionable places, and gain confi-dence. As they had really but just entered upon an educated life, he erged them to pitch their tent right ntellectually.

The coming successful man must be a strong man intellectually. How shall the tent be pitched spiritually? Rev. R. K. Marvin will preach in the He plead that the manhood and wo manhood before him should not pitch it away from religion, which is higher than intellect. He said a vision of 20 years ahead seemed to show him the lass, grown strong in the best sense not one having ever begun to pitch their tent toward Sodom. In closing gave one of the New Testament meanings of sin, as "missing the mark," and urged that they should ound and perfect their characters, ind never "miss the mark." White was assisted in the service by tev. E. s. Deane, paster of the Methodist church.

> Tuesday afternoon at 3 o'clock a large concourse of people assembled on the High school lawn to witness he class day exercises. Several se ections were sung by the school, under the direction of Miss Leach. A platform had been erected above which on a background of green the figures 1901 were prominent in pink. Potted plants adorned the platform on which Harry Jefferds, president of the day, was seated. In an easy pleasant manner Mr. Jefferds welcomed the copte, and introduced the speakers. The first to appear was Miss Dollie W. Davison, class historian, who recountd the happenings of the past four years in an humorous and captivating way. Miss Eva C. Robertson gave an interesting address on the books we read, especially dwelling upon standard books of fiction, and their authors. Frank W. Jefferds took a prophetic peep into the future, and located all his classmates in the years to come. Miss Agnes G. Detour chose Robert Burns as the subject for her interestng essay. The class will was by Miss Meta O. Bailey, and was bright and amusing, her gifts being aptly bestowed, and creating much merriment.

Miss Balley closed by presenting the school, in behalf of her class mates, a fine bust of Sir Walter Scott. The lass yells closed the program, and the events of a very pleasant after-noon became school history. The graduating exercises of the class of 1901, Hinsdale High school church on Wednesday evening. The flower decorations were especially eautiful. The large organ was neary covered with a tasteful arangement of ferns and flowers, while blooming otted plants, palms, and ferns prousely adorned the platform. The excemple quartet of Boston, followed by avocation by the pastor of the church, Rev. W. F. White. The valedictory address was by Walter Dunklee Stearns, and was gracefully given. Mr. Stearns's essay "What Shall We Do Next" was of much merit, and howed that he by no means thought that in graduating from the High school, they had reached the goal of their ambition, but that there remained much to learn, and heights to reach, as yet only dreamed of. The valedictorian of the class, James N. McCormick, had as subject "Our Position With the Philippines." It was a scholarly production, showing that Mr. McCormick had given the questions relating to our added possessions careful consideration. He closed with the customary word of thanks to board of education, teachers, etc. Prof. D. L. Fisher then conferred the diplomas upon the large class, consisting of the following: William Edward Belle-ville, Agnes Gertrude Detour, Flora Aldina Morin, Eugene Leander Morin, James Nolan McCormick, Walter Dunclee Stearns, Dolly Warner Davison, Elizabeth Leonard Gray, Frank Wes-iey Jeffords, Meta O. Bailey, Roy Winthrop Davison, Harry E. Jeffords, Mary Frances Redding, and Eva Caroline Robertson. Mr. Fisher took occasion during the evening to speak of the complaints of parents, which occasion ally came to his ears, that the High school pupils were being worked too hard. For this he did not blame them, but when they considered that their diploma was the passport to any New England college, and that a fit ting in any degree less, would debar them, he did not believe they would want the standard of the school lowered. The remainder of the evening was occupied by the Temple quartet, and was indeed a rare treat to the large audience which packed the Hearty encores were given by the appreciative audience, and were cheerfully responded to. Lovers of music were given a pleasure not often to be had without a journey to the larger towns or cities. Miss Burnett, the reader, was also easily a favorite, capturing her audience with her first few words. Her delineations of character, whether pathetic or grotesque wonderfully life like. This coupled with a pleasant voice, and attrac tive personality made her a charming entertainer. As a whole it was an evening of rare enjoyment, with only the excessive heat as a drawback, and that was good naturedly borne.
